ITS STUDENT EMPLOYEE MANUAL
CONFIDENTIALITY
All information you have access to is to be considered confidential. Release of any confidential information will be cause for immediate dismissal.

WORK SCHEDULE
It is important to remember that student employees are “students” first and “employees” second. Therefore, students are typically only scheduled for up to 20 hours/week. The following guidelines based on residence status are listed below:

Citizen & Non-Citizen: Work is not to exceed an average of 29.5 hours/week over the course of the year.* Certain areas may utilize a 20/40 schedule, where work must not exceed 20 hours/week while school is in session, and 40 hours/week while school is not in session. For more information about which schedule will apply to your position, please ask your Supervisor. (We still encourage supervisors to only schedule students 20 hours/week as we want to help prioritize their studies.)

Non-Resident Alien (F-1 or J-1): An NRA student’s work hours limit, as mandated by federal laws, supercedes a position’s designated schedule. Regardless of position, work is not to exceed a total of 20 hours/week for all University positions the student employee is in while school is in session, and 40 hours/week while school is not in session.

Due to the Affordability Health Care Act employers are required to provide healthcare for employees working 30 or more hours per week. ITS will not finance healthcare for students.

If a student has multiple positions with the University, the schedules for those positions must align. For example, if a student takes a position with ITS that is on a 20/40 schedule, the student must stick to that 20/40 schedule for ALL University positions, regardless of whether or not the other position(s) is with ITS. The same is true for a 29.5 position- the student is limited to 29.5 hours/week year-round in ALL University positions. This is because the student must not exceed the 30 hours/week on average throughout the year, otherwise the University must provide benefits for them.

1As mentioned in the guidelines above, an NRA student’s schedule is dictated by federal law- they are on a 20/40 schedule, regardless of position. As with citizen students, though, the work hours limit applies to the total of hours worked in ALL University positions.

Students are expected to inform their supervisor any time they have a change in employment with the University, whether they take an additional position or end one.

REQUESTING TIME OFF
You must receive approval from your Supervisor when requesting time off from work.

HOLIDAY SCHEDULE
Student employees will not be required or allowed to work on holidays or when the University is closed unless previously approved by HR and/or they are working in an essential personnel area.
REPORTING IN SICK

If you are ill and unable to work as scheduled, you are responsible for reporting your absence to your Supervisor.

TARDINESS

You must notify your Supervisor if you are going to be late to work. Student employees are expected to report to work on time, as scheduled. Any tardiness problems will be documented and put in your permanent personnel file with ITS HR. Wage increases and performance reports may be affected.

TIMESHEETS

ITS uses an electronic timesheet accessed through Firefly. Instructions and Guidelines on completing Timesheets for Hourly Paid Student Employees can be found in Firefly. Once in Firefly, the navigation path for help resources is:

SAPPHIRE Documentation > Firefly Help > Employee Self Service (ESS) Help > Timesheets > Timesheet Entry for Students.pdf

As a Student Worker, you will enter Tmp/Std Work Hours. Be sure to enter your actual start and end times for each day. It is recommended that you enter and save your time daily; release your time after the week has been completed. Once time has been released, your time approver will receive a daily reminder beginning the next morning until the time has been approved. IF YOU HAVE TIME SAVED but not released, you will receive a reminder Friday morning that you have time waiting to be released.

For those with a Federal Work Study (FWS) Award: Please check with your supervisor on which cost object to choose and code your hours as Work Study Acad.Yr Hours. Once you have exhausted all of your FWS funds, ITS HR or your supervisor will notify you and instruct you on which cost object to use. Your time will then be entered as Tmp/Std Work Hours.

If you have not entered any time on your timesheet for a week, you will not receive a reminder to release the hours for approval, so it is in your interest to track time daily so you don’t forget. You will only receive pay for hours that have been entered on your timesheet and approved by your time approver before the payroll deadline. If you do not enter time for a pay period, or your time is not approved before the payroll cutoff, you will not receive a paycheck until the next payday.

DRESS CODE

In general, certain minimum standards of student employee dress, whether written or unwritten, are necessary to present a professional environment for students, staff, and guests. A student employee’s personal appearance is an extension of the University and Information Technology Services and reflects how colleagues, staff, guests, students, and the community view the employing department or office.

While Information Technology Services does not have a uniform dress code, it is up to the employing area to communicate what constitutes appropriate dress. Business casual dress might be appropriate for most departments on most days, but specific jobs and areas may warrant something more formal or more casual depending on the situation.
It is your responsibility to come dressed appropriately for work. If a Supervisor deems your clothing inappropriate for work, they will address this with you and you may be sent home to change into appropriate clothing. In any case, the inappropriate clothing is not to be worn to work again.

Personal hygiene is a must.

Here are a few items of clothing to avoid wearing while at work (this list is not exhaustive):

- Torn, dirty, worn, frayed or sloppy clothing
- Clothing with words, terms, or pictures that may be offensive to our customers or to other employees
- Clothing considered extremely casual and not traditional business attire (examples: sweatpants, workout clothing, leggings, etc.)
- Exceptionally short skirts or shorts
- Short crop tops (no bare midriff)
- Hats or head covers, unless they are required for religious purposes or to honor cultural traditions

While it is understood student employees may not have funds to purchase new clothes to wear to work, modest, clean and appropriate clothing is generally expected. Being appropriately dressed indicates you are serious about the job and conveys a respect for the employing department’s policies and procedures. Above all else, common sense should prevail.

ADDENDUM TO DRESS CODE (for Huskertech employees)

Students who work in any of the ITS Huskertech areas or departments are required to wear the Huskertech polo shirt provided to them upon hire. It may be worn with an under shirt— if it is a long-sleeved under shirt, it must also be a solid color of red, black, or white. The shirt must be tucked in and worn with nice pants; jeans are okay as long as they are in good condition (not torn, dirty, worn, or frayed).

PERFORMANCE EVALUATIONS

The performance evaluation is an opportunity for a student employee and the Supervisor to meet and discuss the student’s work performance. At minimum, a performance evaluation will be done at least once a year for student workers. The evaluation is the time to discuss the student’s strengths and weaknesses, clarify job expectations, ask for feedback, make suggestions, and possibly reward the student worker for a job well done.

EMPLOYEE’S PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITIES

After arriving to work, you should become familiar with any information located in your mailbox, email or posted information within your department. It is your responsibility to check and read your emails periodically during any shift you work.
If it is necessary for you to leave your work area at any time, other than your break or lunch, the Supervisor on duty should know that you are leaving.

If you obtain information that should be shared with the entire office, you should ensure that all staff knows this information either through verbal communication or through email.

Questions that cannot be answered by you should be directed to the Supervisor.

If you share a desk area, you are expected to remove your personal items and straighten up your workstation so it is neat and ready for the next person to work there.

In addition to the responsibilities listed above, you are expected to perform any additional duties that may be assigned to you by the Supervisor on duty.

PERSONAL ELECTRONIC DEVICES

The use of personal devices (computers, tablets, iPad) while on the clock is not permitted. This includes the use of any platform to access and engage in social media while on the job. Time spent on the job should be spent performing duties relating to your job. If you do not have enough job tasks to occupy your shift, please contact your Supervisor.

Please contact your Supervisor if you need to be excused from your shifts in order to study or submit a request for someone to cover your shift.

Violations of this policy will result in disciplinary action. The first violation will be a verbal warning, the second violation will be a written warning, and the third violation will result in termination.

LUNCH AND BREAKS

You should coordinate any lunches and breaks with your Supervisor to ensure adequate staffing.

DRINKS AND FOOD

You must clean up your area, and remove any food or trash from your work area and break room.

SMOKING

The University of Nebraska is a smoke-free, tobacco-free and vapor free environment.

SHREDDING

Any confidential documentation (i.e.: social security number, credit card info. etc.) generated by Information Technology Services, whether it is to be scanned or not scanned, must be shredded before leaving the department.

VISITORS IN THE WORK AREA

If you would like a visitor to tour the office, you are to make arrangements with your Supervisor.
CAMPUS WIDE EMERGENCY DECLARATION

If the Chancellor or his/her representative declares a campus emergency, employees should contact their Supervisor immediately to see if their help is needed.

MEDIA REQUESTS

You are never to give out information to the press regarding situations or events. Refer those calls to:

• Your Supervisor
• ITS Main office (2-4242)

ANGRY CUSTOMER POLICY

It is reasonable to believe that even the best service we provide may be inadequate for some callers. Although it is the responsibility of each individual to manage their emotions, we can play a part with callers who are or become irate or express anger toward us on an incoming call.

• Empathize- Let the caller know you are sorry if you or another employee have made a mistake, misspoke, or misunderstood their request.

• Proceed- Move forward with the request and control the call. Callers may want to dwell on the mistake or confusion; don’t let them.

• Interrupters- Some callers will dwell on an issue preventing you from accomplishing your goal. Give the caller three chances to provide you with the information you need to resolve the issue or offer to have their call returned by a Supervisor. If after three they continue to interrupt, announce you will be ending the call and terminate the call.

Any threatening phone call should be reported to your campus Police Department immediately. Document the call including the time and date of the call, what was said and how you ended the call and give the information to your Supervisor.

RECORDING CALLS (applies to UNL Operations Center & Client Services).

We have the ability to record phone lines in areas such as the random monitoring of phone conversations, which may increase in order to adequately measure quality assurance or resolve disputes in customer dissatisfaction.

State law permits the University, on its business premises to “. . . intercept, disclose, or use the transmission of a wire communication . . . to the rendition of [the University’s] service or to the protection of the rights or property of the carrier or provider of such communication services.”

The act of “recording” wire communications by definition in the statute says at section 86-701 (9) Intercept shall mean the aural or other acquisition of the contents or any wire, electronic, or oral communication through the use of any electronic, mechanical, or other device . . . Although generally intercepting communications is illegal, both State and Federal statutes have exceptions for operators.
Nebraska requires the employer to let the employees know that they may be monitored, as long as reasonable notice of the policy of random monitoring is provided to their employees. Using the recording for training purposes is okay. However, we will not be recording and keeping conversations merely because the technology has advanced to the point where we can.

COMPUTER USE POLICY

It is the purpose of Executive Memorandum #16 to set forth the University's administrative policy and provide guidance relating to responsible use of the University's electronic information systems.

The University of Nebraska strives to maintain access for its faculty, staff, students, administrators and Regents (the "users") to local, national and international sources of information and to provide an atmosphere that encourages sharing of knowledge, the creative process and collaborative efforts within the University's educational, research and public service missions. Access to electronic information systems at the University of Nebraska is a privilege, not a right, and must be treated as such by all users of these systems. All users must act honestly and responsibly. Every user is responsible for the integrity of these information resources.

All users must respect the rights of other computer users, respect the integrity of the physical facilities and controls, and respect all pertinent license and contractual agreements related to University information systems. All users shall act in accordance with these responsibilities, and the relevant local, state and federal laws and regulations. Failure to comply with this Policy may result in denial of access to University information systems or other disciplinary action.

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA-LINCOLN VEHICLE POLICY

Some student employee positions on the UNL campus may require use of a University vehicle from time to time.
